

The essay is devoted to the phenomenon of the Polish romantic composer Fryderyk Chopin whose 200 birth anniversary was celebrated by the world of culture and art in 2010. Chopin himself showed interest in the literature and art of his times, thus the focus on the relationship between literature and music the reflection is centered around the issue of interdisciplinarity – relationships between the composer's music and the poetry in the works of the Czech poets.

ISSN: 1773-165X